Should the necessecity arise, this disclaimer has been provided from our legal department: Batteries not included. Void where prohibited by law. Figures do not actually move on their own, unless specified on packaging. Do not feed the bears. Some assembly required. Figures do not actually talk, seek mental help if you hear voices. Beware of dog. No trespassing. If seal on packaging is broken, all manufacturers warranties are void. Service may be denied to any person for any reason, but the money will still be withdrawn from your credit card account. Service is denied to all government employees and agencies, representatives of the RIAA, MPAA, and SAG, and all parties affiliated, under contract, or otherwise receiving favors or payments from the above organizations. There is a 200% restocking and replacement fee for any returned item, and all sales are final. Do not enter another dimension to escape financial obligations, especially those of sight, sound, and mind. Side-effects may include: Sniffling, sneezing, coughing, aching, stuffy head, fever, bubonic plague, explosive flatulence, antidisestablishmentarianism, cancer of the heart, liver, kidneys, and lungs, and of course occasional cravings for oat grains. Do not attempt to dive without a life-guard nearby. By finalizing any purchase, you also entitle Overstock Barnhouse the rights to the following: The deed to all properties owned by the buyer, all automobiles that have passed smog-check within the past few months, all collectable items purchased on ebay, all furniture valuing over $450, all furniture valuing $450 and under, and first born children where applicable. This invoice is known to the state of Missouri for being a major contributor of Mad Cow's Disease. Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on you again, we have no shame. Remember the Alamo. Forget the Vietnam War. Should this disclaimer become voided by any court of any country, court officials must dial (559)-438-4263 to find out how this disclaimer is no longer void. If seal is broken prior to ship, we will assume that the buyer has opened the box, and all above statements will apply.
